

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the standard. A Pure Cream of Tartar Powder, Superior to every other known. Makes delicious cake and pastry, light, flaky biscuit, griddle cakes—palatable and wholesome.

PRICE BAKING POWDER CO.,
CHICAGO.

NOTE.—Avoid baking powders made from alum. They look like pure powders, and may taste the cakes, but alum is a poison and no one can eat food mixed with it without injury to health.

CRUSHED BY A STREET CAR.

Four-Year-Old Mamie Niener Was Instantly Killed.

Mamie Niener, the 4-year-old daughter of Michael Niener, a blacksmith, living in the rear of No. 280 Hale avenue, was crushed to death beneath a Mount City street car near her home yesterday morning. Her body was removed to the morgue, where it lies awaiting an autopsy, which will probably be held to-day.

Mrs. Niener told Mamie yesterday that she would go to the morgue and get her body when it was removed. She returned with Clarence in safety. Then she remembered that her left a pair of scissors belonging to her mother at her son's house, and went back to get them.

As she was running on the south side of St. Louis avenue between Blair and South streets, she saw a street car approaching and started for the other side. A car was running rapidly down the street, and the child ran across the track in front of it, unconscious of her danger, and it was impossible to stop the car before it struck her.

After the accident a crowd assisted the mother to remove the child from the body from under the car. It was wedged under the motor so tightly that it could not be dislodged until an ax was used. A man who had raised the tracks

BEATEN BY THREE FOOTPADS.
Frank Gurky's Plucky Fight on the Levee.

Frank Gurky, of No. 215 Lewis street, employed on the steamer City of St. Louis, which arrived from New Orleans yesterday morning, met with an unpleasant encounter shortly after leaving his boat. He had received his entire pay for the trip, and while walking up the levee was set upon by three footpads, who attempted to hold him up. The river man was plucky and fought his way for several minutes until he was exhausted.

Then the ruffians closed in on him and knocked him down, when two of them disappeared, and the footpads fled. One officer took Gurky in charge, while the other gave him a bill of fare, and the two men resulted in the capture of William Beck. Beck made the trip on the City of St. Louis.

In the fight Gurky broke his hand, and was otherwise so badly bruised that he was sent to the City Hospital. There he told a reporter, representing that the men who had attacked him are Levee frequenters,

GRIP

This dread disease is now becoming prevalent. Beware of that "slight cough," also that "night sweat." It is the old grip. It can be quickly cured by the use of

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

as directed, if taken in time. It not only the Grip, but eliminates the blood to healthy action, and prevents bad after-effects.

CURES

New York City—We have been using your P. H. MALT WHISKEY for the Grippe, and find it has helped us wonderfully.

M. Hazz, 511 West 2d St.

Gentlemen—I have had the Grippe and DUFFY'S MALT WHISKEY has done me more good than any doctor's medicine. Please send me some bottles.

Mrs. Mary A. Baetz

Government stamp on the genuine. Duggins usually sell it. If you do not, a bottle will be sent you, prepaid, for $1. or $2. Valuable book of information sent free on application.

Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

MONEY to LOAN

The highest amount loaned on watches, diamonds, jewelry and all articles of value. Large sums given on short notice. Terms liberal and interest strictly confidential. Underwritten personal guarantee.

S. VAN RAALTE & CO.,
12 and 14 S. 4th, also 213 S. 7th St.
ESTABLISHED 1874.

NOTARY PUBLIC.

J. F. PARISH,
REPUBLICAN BUILDING.

SCARS.

Warts, Moles, Tattoo Marks, Superficial Burns, etc.

BLOOD diseases, a specialty.

Phone A 456. J. WEIRLY, M.D., 699 Chemical tide.

CITY ITEMS.

THE fame of Crawford's Planes is rapidly spreading abroad in the land. We find they are shipping Planes East, West, North and South, and are advertising in the Republic of Mexico of "Crawford" for $200.00. The gentleman who was the purchaser declared after purchasing that he had found all around the City of Plans and did not see anything to equal the "Crawford" for $200.00.

Hallock's Anti-Freckle, the famous beauty maker. Try it.

BOY THE VICTIM OF A VENDETTA.

Harry Adderly, Seventeen Years Old, Pursued and Shot in the Left Arm.

INCURRED ENMITY OF A GANG.

When Arrested With Several Other Lads on a Charge of Billing Shot Machines He Testified Against Them.

Harry Adderly, 17, seventeen years old, living in No. 234 Franklin Avenue, was a patient in the city Hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the left arm. He arrived in the institution about 10 o'clock last night, accompanied by Captain Moran of the French District. The bullet was removed from his arm by Doctor Butler, who says the wound is not serious. He was writing to the station when Adderly, 17, a boy, 5 feet 4 inches tall, and weighing 120 pounds, was the victim of a vendetta. Some time ago he was arrested with a crew of boys charged with breaking into and playing slot machines. At the trial Adderly testified against the others, and as a result of the punishment of several of the youngsters, they turned upon him. They beat him, chased and shot at him.

At the time Adderly was living with his parents in the French District, in the hub of families and friends of the boys who had been convicted for the slot-machine affair. During the trials with him had been made against Harry, the Adderly's moved out on Evans Avenue. Today since they have moved out there the boy has been chased and shot at by crowds of boys, who escaped in several instances.

At the time Adderly was living with his parents in the French District, in the hub of families and friends of the boys who had been convicted for the slot-machine affair. During the trials with him had been made against Harry, the Adderly's moved out on Evans Avenue. Today since they have moved out there the boy has been chased and shot at by crowds of boys, who escaped in several instances.

Yesterday when Adderly had occasion to go down in the neighborhood of his old home, he was followed by a gang of boys, member of the same club, and followed him into the house of a relative, then went out to assemble the others. Harry was pursued by the gang, followed him, and when he was determined to leave, he turned around and shot at him.

At about 8 o'clock he slipped out the back door and got a check away. Unfortunately, Mr. Moran and Fifteenth Streets were followed him and started on a run for his life. He was shot at, but managed to escape. He turned around and shot again, but he was followed by the gang, who came out of an alley and started on a run toward him.

"We've got you now," one of them cried. He turned and ran, and several shots were fired at him.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where. His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

"We've got you now," one of them cried. He turned and ran, and several shots were fired at him.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent with her to the city institution, he telephoned to the station master of the car, who lay in the street. He submitted to the police.

The injured boy, beaten by reputation, was examined for competency in the station master's office, and since that time has been to the hospital.

He got a sharp pain in his arm and thought that he must be hit. In the end he was hit, but he did not know where.

His parents, believing he was killed, turned and fled in the opposite direction.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment. He placed a bullet over her and asked Station Master Conklin to have an engine ready to take her to the City Hospital as soon as the train arrived in St. Louis, and after Conklin took charge of her and was sent